"Sing me a Picture"

Dunlop Church's first community event of 2014 is to be a creative one, with music, art and story and will take place on the afternoon and evening of Sunday 19th January. We are extremely fortunate to have professional musicians Hector Scott and Anna Mavromatidi and artists, Marsha Burke and Nina Russell and Shinobu Miki Scott joining us for this event.

Events Programme

2.00-4.00 Two one-hour long workshops where children will participate in drawing, painting and origami inspired by song and story. Workshops will be suitable for children aged 5+ and places will be limited to 40 children per workshop. Cost £2 per child

4.00-5.15 A workshop for all aged between 10 and 110 will provide an opportunity to form a choir and learn two songs which they will then perform as part of the evening concert. Who knows, we could end up with a Dunlop Community Choir!!!! Cost £3 per person
No auditions needed and all abilities welcome

5.15-6.00 Soup and sandwiches will be available Cost £2

6.30-7.30 Concert with Hector Scott, Anna Mavromatidi and the choir. In addition, art work from the children's workshops will be displayed.

The First Art Exhibition of 2014 in the Conservatory area of the village hall:

The art exhibition by Gillian Park will start off the New Year, opening on Friday 10th January to Thursday, 6th February. Gillian studied design at Glasgow School of Art (1989-1993), and graduated BA(Hons) in graphic design. She then worked the design industry for 11 years culminating in her post as studio manager of a publishing company and then started her own design business.. In 2003 after a long gap, Gillian picked up her paint brush and start painting her shoe collection... yes, shoe collection.

Gillian likes the texture and rich paint quality of oils and she takes ordinary mundane objects, isolates them and paints a portrait showing them as a thing of beauty in their own right. For her vintage collection of paintings she has taken old, forgotten objects and captured their character and history in an iconic way.

This is a truly interesting and innovative collection of paintings and we hope you will come along to the Open Evening in the village hall on Friday 10th January to see and enjoy the paintings for yourself.
