Dear friends and neighbours,

I write this after spending what was a mostly overcast day in Largs, a town I'm sure you all know well. Walking along the prom, I had to step over piles of pebbles and seaweed which had been deposited there by raging waves in recent storms. More storms seemed to be quite literally on the horizon as the sky above the hills at the back of the town was an ominous dark grey, almost black. The surroundings seemed to match my mood as my thoughts were taken up with the terrible situation faced by the people of Ukraine and the increasing threat posed by Putin to that country and potentially the whole world.

Suddenly, the sun burst through the clouds above the sea, making the waves sparkle and illuminating the hills against the dark sky which now formed the backdrop for a vivid rainbow! As I looked at the brilliant colours of the rainbow, I was reminded of two things. First, of God's promise to us all, and to himself, that never again would he let floodwaters destroy all life. Second, of the way the rainbow symbolised love, care and community at the beginning of the pandemic.

We are again facing darkness and danger, this time in the form of warfare. And again we are seeing the ways in which people come together for good - across the world, as nations and governments, as charities and churches, as individuals - friends and neighbours to each other, no matter the distance which might separate us.

I don't know what will have happened in the short time between now and the Dunlop Diary being printed and delivered, but I do know that even on the darkest of days the light still breaks through, that in the midst of storms, we find periods of calm, and that throughout everything God is with us.

As President Zelenskyy of Ukraine said so eloquently, the "night will be difficult, very difficult. But the morning will come".

May we all know the peace which God wills for us all,

Alison

DUNLOP & LUGTON COMMUNITY ACTION PLAN

In the past few years, a number of our neighbouring communities in East Ayrshire have produced COMMUNITY ACTION PLANS to help them take action to address the problems, needs, and potential of their area. With Covid restrictions being eased the timing is good for Dunlop & Lugton to now prepare its own Community Action Plan.

A Community Action Plan provides a road map for implementing community change and delivery of essential services by clarifying what will be done, who will do it and how it will be done. The plan describes what the community wants to achieve, what activities are required during a specified time period, and what resources (money, people and materials) are needed to be successful.

The first stage is to carry out a survey of as many people as possible who live in the Dunlop and Lugton area and huge thanks goes to those who have already come forward to offer their help in distributing these surveys. (There's still plenty space for more volunteers!) So what's involved?...

- Survey distributors will be responsible for delivering paper copies to every household in their pre agreed list. (Street names/areas of approximately 30 households are currently being allocated).
- Note that online options will also be available.
- Distributors will then collect/check each household on their pre agreed list has completed the survey and report back to the lead. The survey will highlight things people like/dislike about our local area. With key themes coming out of the surveys our community will be able to see where we can make change for the better and new opportunities are sure to come out.

We are aiming to start the survey process from week beginning 28th March.

A community meeting will be held in advance of this date to allocate street names/areas to distributors and answer any questions. All will be welcome.

When you receive your survey, please don't ignore it. We want as big a range of opinions as possible and the greater the response the easier it will be to identify priorities. All age groups will be encouraged to participate. If you have any further questions you wish to discuss, contact Ruth Wilson on 07891 048 258.

Dunlop and Lugton Poppy Fairies

The poppy fairies are starting to make early plans for this year's poppy displays in the villages.

We have lots of people knitting and crocheting and have built up a good store of poppies.

We would love some more help in the following areas:

- 1. Practical help putting up and taking down displays on fences and lamp posts and helping to site our war horse.
- 2. Artistic and creative input. We would love some of our very talented local artists to come on board and help with ideas for new displays and ideas for displays in our local shop windows all our shops are keen to support the poppy displays and are usually happy to let us "poppify" them, but we have just run out of ideas.
- 3. A co-ordinator for our wee group who could keep on top of our plans and help make arrangements, organise very occasional get togethers where we have a cup of tea or whatever and toss around some ideas very informal!

If you can help in any way at all please contact:
